

Rape as a Weapon of War

A Conversation with the United Nations Special Representative on Sexual Violence in Conflict

Thursday, February 20, at 6 PM in USC
Doheny Memorial Library (DML), Room 240

USC Shoah Foundation proudly presents an evening with distinguished guest Zainab Hawa Bangura, United Nations Undersecretary-General and Special Representative on Sexual Violence in Conflict.

Join us as Special Representative Bangura addresses the use of sexual violence as a weapon of war, its consequence and legacy on its victims and society, issues of impunity and the search for international justice. Ms. Bangura will also discuss her personal experience living through conflict in her home country of Sierra Leone. Clips from award-winning films on the topic will be presented and a Q & A period will follow.

The event will be introduced and moderated by USC Shoah Foundation Executive Director Stephen Smith and United Nations News and Media Executive Producer Andi Gitow.

Space is limited, register now! RSVP to: vhi-academic@dornsife.usc.edu
